Course Description

This course teaches the processes used to develop an idea - whether of a for-profit or not-for-profit product or service - from initial conception to organizational launch and subsequent sustainability. Specific process elements include the creation of a simple (3-page) business plan and market strategy, testing for financial viability, and preparing to "open for business" and operate thereafter. The course provides a broad exposure to the application of a wide spectrum of concepts and tools useful in one's personal, as well as professional life: formulating and communicating key messages, orally and in writing; value creation; budgeting resources; developing and executing a plan of action; collaborating with others.

Student Outcomes

Upon successful completion of this course, a student will be able to use the fundamental tools of entrepreneurial thinking to create successful enterprises in business, the non-profit community or the political world. The student will master the process of business planning and customer validation as it applies to a variety of environments. Students will develop confidence in their ability to originate their own business and see it through to fruition.

Methods of Assessing Student Outcomes

Student outcomes will be assessed using the following: This is a hands-on class that requires daily participation in team activities to originate, validate and develop a business plan. Students will be assessed based on their participation by taking weekly surveys, posting and analyzing results, choosing between strategic alternatives using the business model canvas, helping other teams choose strategies, and presenting their team's findings to the class.

Instructional Strategies

This course will emphasize the application of entrepreneurial thinking to a hands-on project originated by the students. Successful completion of the course relies heavily on the completion and analysis of outside interviews. Therefore, it is expected that all students will have completed and posted any required interview work prior to the class session(s) to which it pertains. Assigned reading may include the text, articles, film clips and other media sources, which the student will be expected to complete prior to class and apply in the classroom.

Attendance

In order to maximize your learning, you are expected to attend class. Most of the learning will occur as we work together to apply inputs from surveys with concepts learned in the texts and through media postings online. You are expected to be a part of the learning community and participate fully in each class session. Participation points can only be earned if you are present. Use of electronic devices is limited to using a laptop or tablet to take notes. Other uses such as texting, surfing the Internet, or making calls are disrespectful to the learning community. If you are engaged in these activities, you will be asked to leave the classroom

SNC Tahoe Athletics – The Athletic Director notifies faculty members of student athletes with excused absences for training and competition. This email excuses the student athlete from class attendance, but not from doing the assigned work. It is the student athlete's responsibility to meet with me prior to the excused absence for missed work and/or alternate assignments. If a student athlete fails to meet with me prior to the absence, make-up work is not available.

Class Requirements

All students are required to bring a laptop computer to each class meeting. Cell phones and pagers must be turned off or set to 'silent mode.'

Sanctions for Cheating and/or PlagiarismThe Honor Code

The faculty of SNC believes students must be held to high standards of integrity in all aspects of college life in order to promote the educational mission of the College and to encourage respect for the rights of others. Each student brings to the SNC community unique skills, talents, values and experiences which, when expressed within the community, contribute to the quality of the educational environment and the growth and development of the individual. Students share with members of the faculty, administration and staff the responsibility for creating and maintaining an environment conducive to learning and personal development, where actions are guided by mutual respect, integrity, responsibility and trust. The faculty and students alike must make diligent efforts to ensure high standards are upheld by their colleagues and peers as well as themselves. Therefore faculty and students accept responsibility for maintaining these standards at Sierra Nevada College and are obligated to comply with its regulations and procedures, which they are expected to read and understand.

Consequences of Violating the Student Honor Code

SNC students and faculty share the responsibility for maintaining an environment of academic honesty. Thus, all are responsible for knowing and abiding by the SNC Faculty/Student Honor Code published in the current SNC Catalog. Faculty are responsible for presenting the Honor Code and the consequences of violating it to students at the start of their classes AND for reporting all incidences of academic dishonesty to the Provost. Students are responsible for knowing what constitutes CHEATING, PLAGIARISM and FABRICATION and for refraining from these and other forms of academic dishonesty. Violations of the Honor Code become part of a student's academic record.

- 1st Offense: Student receives a zero for assignment/exam and counseling with faculty on the honor code, consequences for violating the honor code, and the value of academic honesty in learning.
- 2nd Offense: Student fails course and receives counseling with faculty on the honor code, consequences for violating the honor code, and the value of academic honesty in learning.
- 3rd Offense: Student is expelled.

Description of Course Assignments and Projects

Notable Entrepreneur Presentation: Students will pair up and select a notable entrepreneur and give the class a 5-minute presentation on the entrepreneur. Specifics will be given in class. 10 points

Class Participation: Teams will be formed early in the semester to work together on class exercises and on a business model canvas to imagine a business. All students are expected to be active members of their team, contributing to the weekly class work.

In addition, class discussion will be based of regular readings (posted on Moodle) from the required texts. Students should expect regular pop-quizzes on the readings.

Students will score themselves bi-weekly on their participation and contribution to the class session. The professor will review your self-evaluations. At 35 points, this is the most heavily weighted consideration for grading.

Midterm Paper: Each student will write a short paper on what they believe the most important personality traits are for an entrepreneur (details will be given in class). 10 points

Mini Business Plan (draft and final): Each student will individually submit a written mini-business plan based on a business idea they are interested in. This will be submitted in two phases, draft and final. This allows students to get feedback and make adjustments prior to the final mini-business plan submission. Draft 5 points, Final 20 points

Team Presentations: Throughout the business model canvas journey, students will have an opportunity to present the things they learned to the class. Were there any “aha moments”? Pivots? Did you discard an idea and start over? A final presentation will be given just prior to, and during, finals week. 10 points

Peer and Self-evaluation: This is an opportunity to give feedback to team members and to me on how team members contributed and make an assessment of how you contributed to the team effort. You will notice that it is not possible to get an “A” grade and difficult to get a “B” grade without positive peer reviews. 10 points
